More About Fire Alarm

In last week's account of the new arrangement for the operation of the fire alarm signals, no mention was made of the Volunteer Hose Company. This company answers the second alarm with the Hose Company No. 1. The equipment of the Volunteer Company is carried on the Hook and Ladder truck. Chimney fire alarms are handled through the telephone office as in previous years and the siren is not sounded. When calling the telephone office for help the nature of the blaze should be plainly stated.

Miss Edith L. Morse

The community was deeply shocked to learn of the death of Miss Edith L. Morse last Sunday night after a brief illness. Her passing was a great loss to her many friends in whom she showed such a keen and intimate interest. Born in Danville, Vt., August 6, 1875, she was one of a family of five. Her parents were Silas and Ellen Pitts Morse. The greater part of her life was spent in Shelburne, N. H., where she lived until moving to Bethel in 1916.

A member of the local Congregational church, she lived her daily life in the true Christian manner that earned for her the respect and admiration of everyone with whom she came in contact.

The Rev. William Sinclair of Gorham, N. H., officiated at the funeral services which were held at her late home, Wednesday afternoon. Pall bearers were Charles Valentine, Harry Sawin, E. E. Whitney and Henry Austin. Burial was in the family lot at Hazelton Cemetery in Shelburne, N. H.

She is survived by four nieces, Mrs. William Houle, Miss Elizabeth Morse, Miss Mabel Morse of Gorham, N. H., Mrs. Gilbert Henry of Ashfield, Mass., and a nephew, Mr. Luther Morse of Springfield, Mass.

Mrs. George W. Davis

Mrs. Eliza Felt Davis, wife of George W. Davis, passed from this life very peacefully at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, May 18th. She had been a great sufferer for many years and also in failing health for the past year was confined to her bed only eight days before her death.

Mrs. Davis was born in Woodstock, May 5, 1868, the eldest child of Granville and Clara Whitman Felt. Except for a few years of her married life spent in Massachusetts she had always lived in her native town. She received her education in the schools of Woodstock and Farmington Normal School, and for several years before her marriage was a very successful teacher.

In September 1887 she was united in marriage to George W. Davis. To them three children were born: Gerald F., Gayden G., and Guyson G., who all reside at South Woodstock. Besides the above-mentioned she leaves to mourn her loss, three grand-children; two brothers, Earl Felt of Norway and Albert of Bryant Pond; several cousins, nieces and nephews.

She was laid to rest on Thursday afternoon, May 20, in the little cemetery at South Woodstock, beside her late home. Bearers were the husband, three sons, and her two brothers. Floral tributes were very beautiful. In closing we can only say—

"She is not dead, she is just away."

We wish to thank all those here who helped in any way during our bereavement, also Dr. S. S. Greenleaf for his thoughtfulness and the Rev. P. J. Clifford for his words of comfort.

Muntz Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary will be on the streets early Saturday morning with baskets of the memorial flowers, offering them in exchange for contributions for Auxiliary Welfare work among the needy and disabled veterans. They will continue throughout the day giving everyone an opportunity to "honor the dead and aid the living" by wearing a poppy. The poppies have been made by disabled veterans at Veterans' Hospital, Togus.

ADMITTANCE BY INVITATION GOULD SENIOR RECEPTION

Admittance to the Annual Senior Reception at Gould Academy, to be held on Thursday evening, June 10, will, this year, be by invitation only. All residents of Bethel who desire to go are asked to obtain invitations either from members of the Senior Class or from the office of the Principal of Gould Academy. Alumni of Gould Academy and students are eligible to receive invitations, as well as town's people. Due to the large number desiring tickets not only from Bethel, but surrounding towns, it has been necessary to limit guests at this function to the above named, together with special friends of the members of the graduating class.

Word has been received of the death of Dr. O. H. Brann which occurred at 10 o'clock this morning at Augusta.

Dr. Brann is well known in town. He was associated in the practice of dentistry with the late Dr. F. B. Tuell, leaving here in 1910 to practice in Augusta, where he has since resided. He married Miss Eva Twaddle, daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Twaddle.

HATS OFF.

Hats off! Our national anthem Rings out upon the air. Arise! stand at attention, To heaven lift a prayer, America, America, My country 'tis of thee. Thank God, this is my native land, Home of the noble free.

Hats off! The flag is passing, Revere its silken folds. Most wondrous is the story Our glorious banner holds. Behold each bright star shining Upon its field of blue: Its red and white that gleams with light Should mean so much to you.

Hats off to our defenders That pass in grand review,— The old Colonial Army, The men that wore the blue; And those who back in '98 Fought on the land and main, And humbled in the very dust The armies of Old Spain.

Hats off! the boys in khaki Most justly have a claim To our undying gratitude,— All honor to their name. Hats off to each defender, Each hero tried and true. Their glory stands immortal With the red, the white and blue.

TOWNSEND DELEGATE CHOSEN

On May 21st the Townsend Club held its regular meeting. F. J. Tyler was chosen delegate to the Townsend Convention at Washington July 21 to 25, both days inclusive. A little sketch on co-operation was read telling how horses would stand head and tail and brush flies from each other's faces, and if they knew enough to co-operate why don't humans. It was decided to have a special meeting Friday, May 28th, at the Grange Hall. A baked bean and pastry supper will be served. The main idea is to get a good crowd to hear the speaker who will be sent by the District Speakers Bureau.

LEADBETTER URGES SUPPORT FOR GOOD WILL HOMES

May 21, 1937
To the Citizens of the State of Maine:

As Commissioner of Health and Welfare of the State of Maine, and having had a large part in the charitable work of the State for many years prior to the passage of the law whereby the Department of Health and Welfare was established, I realize, perhaps, more than many, the great need for more care for children whose home life for various reasons has been denied them.

The demands upon the State and upon private agencies for this kind of service have been very heavy for the past few years.

Now Good Will Homes and Schools at Good Will Farm, Hinkley, Maine, the largest of its kind and whose character building program is nationally known, founded forty-eight years ago by Dr. George W. Hinkley, whose graduates have been outstanding in the life of this state and country, has come for the first time in its history to ask publicly the support of citizens in Maine, or close six of its cottage homes, sending out 90 children. This procedure would also bar children for years to come from being admitted.

Maine citizens cannot afford to see these homes closed to its needy children. Rather should the funds be sent to Good Will Farm, Hinkley, Maine, quickly, during the months of May and June, that the anxious hearts of the children there may be set at rest. Also that Dr. Hinkley may know that the citizens of Maine appreciate the great work that he has carried on for so many years for the youth of the State, depending wholly upon private contributions for its support. GEORGE W. LEADBETTER, Commissioner of Health and Welfare, State House, Augusta, Maine.

Service is an important factor in the operation of a store. Stocks of goods are kept on hand and customers' needs anticipated by the successful merchant. Gilead Gilead may come back to her own, a wilder place than ever, as the world may flock here for the next gold rush. Fred Farrington, the WPA truck driver from Canton way, claims to have found color and some flakes from washings around here. He liked the signs and tried out his gold pan. He has said that he believed that if a person worked it right, there is possibilities of him making wages. What may be found is possible to dream about—and we may dream.

Deputy Ellis Davis of West Paris is expected here for the next Grange meeting, Tuesday, June 1. Everyone is looking forward to hearing him, as well as to help enjoy the refreshments being planned.

St Cole is still leading the town in fishing experience, both good and bad. He got into a good run of smelts when they ran, got the first decent feed of trout, and then headed up to Richardson Lake after the ice went out a week ago Sunday. There he met his first defeat, came back with the experience. But undaunted he tried it the following Wednesday. Success this time. He brought home the fish—one fish!

Giant Fear Everywhere

It Cannot Be Banished

Fear stalks the earth—stalks through crowded street, steals into quiet homes, just as it strides the lonely places. Only it is very often a different sort of fear. There is the rude fear of the lonely places and the fear with a keen cutting edge amid all the refinement of civilization, writes Roderick Ransom in Birmingham (Eng.) Post.

Try as he will man cannot banish fear. He may do away with one sort of fear only to discover that another sort has silently crept in to take its place. The more he widens the range of his activities, the higher the civilization he creates, the more does he enlarge the field of his fears.

Primitive men had a few immadiate and pressing fears, mainly those arising from the dangers that beset him in his hunting abroad, or by his own rude hearth. We had other and more remote fears—those associated with the unknown, and things he could not comprehend, and they were many. The more civilized people become, the better are they able to overcome those primitive fears that have to do with their bodily safety, which was the chief concern of men a thousand years ago.

Our reactions to fear are curious.
The child frightened in the dark hides herself under the bedclothes.
In the enclosed and intense darkness of the bed she seeks to escape the lesser but wider darkness of the bedroom.

CUTTING AWAY THE ANCHOR

The SUPREME COURT AND HOW IT WORKS

Difficult Decisions By ROBERT MERRILL

VIRTUALLY all cases brought before a court for decision represent strong differences of opinion.

This is also true of cases which come before the Supreme court of the United States—particularly those in which a citizen differs with congressional opinion on the grave question of whether or not his constitutional rights have been violated by a congressional act.

And, since the members of the Supreme court are not supermen but simply citizens trained in the law, they too differ on occasion.

More frequently, however, than many persons realize, they are unanimous in their decisions.

16 Unanimous Decisions.

On January 4, of the present year, for example, the Supreme court handed down 16 decisions. All were unanimous.

On February 1, it handed down 24 decisions. Of these, 23 were unanimous.

In cases where private citizens differ with congress on the constitutionality of a law, and the Supreme court is asked to act as umpire, the chances for unanimity of opinion among the justices are, of course, smaller.

Students of government have recently computed (as this is written) that, during its century and a half of history, the Supreme court declared laws unconstitutional in approximately 73 such cases. In thirty of those cases the justices reached unanimous decisions. In 23 of them there were either one or two dissenting votes.

Contrary, perhaps, to general opinion, the much-discussed 5-4 decisions were rarer. They occurred in about a dozen of those opinions.

Other decisions have run 6-3, 5-3, etc., varying, sometimes, according to the number of justices on the court.

Deny Powers to Court.

Many of the unanimous decisions facing congressional acts unconstitutional involved rights of citizens as well as fundamental principles of American government.

Several of them declared unconstitutional certain powers which legislation would have conferred upon the court itself.

Others upheld the right of trial by jury, the right of a citizen to refuse to testify against himself, the right to just compensation for property taken for public purposes, and the like.

One declared that even an alien in United States territory cannot be denied the right to indictment and trial by jury when charged with a criminal offense.

Even when the decisions were unanimous, however, the court, under its own rulings, could not suggest legislation. It could only say that the legislation as enacted did not conform with the Constitution and, in the case of the citizen who made the particular appeal, interfered with constitutional guarantees.

Court Can't Overrule Congress.
This point was recently expressed in one opinion of the court which read in part as follows:

"It is sometimes said that the court assumes a power to overrule or control the action of the people's representatives. This is a misconception.

"The Constitution is the supreme law of the land ordained and established by the people. All legislation must conform to the principles it lays down. When an act of congress is appropriately challenged in the courts as not conforming to the Constitutional mandate, the judicial branch of the Government has only one duty—to lay the Article of the Constitution which is invoked beside the statute which is challenged and to decide whether the latter squares with the former.

"All the court does or can do, is to announce its considered judgment upon the question. The only power it has, if such it may be called, is the power of judgment.

"This court neither approves nor condemns any legislative policy. Its delicate and difficult office is to ascertain and declare whether the legislation is in accordance with, or in contravention of, the provisions of the Constitution; and, having done that, its duty ends."

"Congress just now is thrilled with what senators and representatives are beginning to call their "parlor revolution," says the United States News. "Reference is to the experiment in kicking over party traces, indulged by members of each House for the first time in four years."

Whether this unlooked-for example of independence on the part of the legislative branch will become a full-fledged revolt against dominance of the Executive, remains to be seen. However, the seeds of dissent have been sown, and it is no longer strictly accurate to say that the President can get whatever he wants with hardly a ripple of opposition from a supine Congress. Mr. Roosevelt may still get what he wants in every particular —his influence and prestige may still be strong enough to make congressmen swallow bills they heartily dislike—but he is not going to get away with it without a real battle. And that fact alone, whatever the outcome of pending "must" legislation will be, marks a far cry from what the country has been witnessing the last four years.

The president stirred up a hornet's nest when he introduced his judicial reorganization proposal.
Senators whose faith in the new Deal was considered unquestioned, have taken the lead in aggressively battling this bill, which is unquestionably the most important one yet sponsored by the administration. Senator Wheeler is the prime example of this—no conservative has used stronger words or showed more determination in opposing what he regards as packing of the Supreme Court with Executive controlled justices.

As matters now stand, half a dozen or more Democratic senators have recently announced that they will vote against the bill. Administration majority is unquestionably less than five in the Senate and that is a remarkable thing in the light of the fact that any and all Roosevelt-backed bills used to go through with an anvil chorus of "ayes" and the merest scattering of ineffectual Republican "nays."

The judicial proposal is not alone in stirring up opposition. The President's spending policy is in grave danger—that is, Congress is nowhere near as willing as it used to be to give him a blank check. His farm tenancy bill, which would cost a vast, unpredictable sum to carry through to successful conclusion, couldn't win approval from the House agricultural committee.

More important, when the President asked for $1,500,000,000 for relief, to be spent at his discretion, for the coming fiscal year, he ran into the direct opposition of some of his best senatorial friends. Senator Byrnes, always regarded as a 100% Administration man, is fighting for a ten per cent cut in all expenditures, and other senators are known to be figuring on cutting the relief to a billion—all of which means, as the Washington observers have been announcing with convincing regularity and unanimity lately, that Congress is getting "economy minded." The size of the national debt is beginning to frighten and worry many a congressman who voted in the past for maximum appropriations—and other congressmen can see no reason why emergency spending should be continued in a period when business is rapidly expanding, is practically back to "normal" levels in most lines, and is obviously encountering an actual "boom" in other lines.

Congress' new attitude of independence may be a tempest in a teapot so far—but most unprejudiced commentators feel that, like the proverbial rolling snowball, it will grow. No one expects that Congress will adopt a consistently anti-executive attitude—which did so much to ruin Wilson and Hoover politically—but they do think that the period when the President ran the whole show is coming slowly to an end.

Recent business news has been quietly favorable, with prices apparently stabilizing in some important fields, and with industrial output at excellent levels.

The astounding automobile industry continues to produce units and sell them at an almost unbelievable rate, now that it is at least temporarily free of major strikes. Chevrolet—whose epic battle with Ford for dominance of the lowest-priced class continues unabated—is raising its capacity to 7,000 cars daily. Ford is also expanding.

Residential construction has notably improved, leads all other kinds of construction in volume, according to F. W. Dodge reports.
This, says Business Week, is happy news to manufacturers of furniture to whom new homes mean new business. Furniture production is around 50% ahead of last year at this time.

Business is making more money as well as producing more goods, according to a National City Bank survey of 270 corporations. First quarter earnings of these representative concerns were 53.5% ahead of the 1936 first quarter, for a net of more than $352,000,000. Leaders in improving profits were steel, paper, railway equipment and merchandising industries.

Gould Defeats Gorham 10-9

In an exciting game played here last Friday, Gould defeated Gorham 10 to 9 by staying off a last inning rally. The game proved to be a real hitting affair with the losers getting most of the extra base clouts but Gould bunched their hits in two innings to offset these blows.

Each team collected 14 hits, Gorham's hits included three doubles, three triples and one home run, while Gould's only extra base clout was a triple by Brown. The home club completed two nice double plays to cut off threatening rallies, one in the fourth and one in the eighth.

P. Ross with a triple, a homer, and a single, led the visitors' attack. Walker also got three hits including a double. For Gould Brown and E. Robertson collected three hits each.

Norway Defeats Gould 5-4

In the most exciting and best played game of the season Gould Academy lost a hard fought game to Norway 5 to 4. In the fourth inning Norway scored three runs after two men were out and an error made on what should have been an easy third out.

It was a tough game for McFarland to lose after scattering the visitors' hits over the remaining innings. The game was enthralling by three double plays, two by Gould and one by Norway. In the third inning Brown snared Howe's liner and tossed to Tucker to retire Wyman at second. Again in the fifth Brown caught a liner to retire Bedard and stepped on second to retire Gallant. Norway's double play occurred in the first inning when O. Robertson lined out to Bedard who stepped on first base to get Littlehale before he could return to the initial base.

Crockett, who replaced the injured Eddy Robertson at first base, played a nice game, scoring one run and getting two singles. Tucker, with a double and single, helped the home cause along, as did Wentzel's homer into the buses in front of the Students' Home. Keady's scorching double came at a very opportune time, driving in Gould's first two runs.

For Norway, Wyman led the attack with three singles. Gallant and Ballard hit for two singles each. Calef did a neat job of pitching in the pinches. In the eighth inning with the tying run on third base and nobody out, he struck out Keady and Perry and forced McFarland to ground out to Frost at second. Box score:

Gould Second in County Meet

Working under handicap Gould Academy's track team placed second in the Oxford County Meet. Gould lost the services of the quarter-miler and low hurdler, Edward Robertson, and one of the leading scorers, Dwight Stiles, had been ill a day before the meet. But for these mishaps, it would be probable that Gould would have won the County title. Gould scorers in the meet follow:

points	R. Young, 1st in 440, 2nd in 220, 8 8	D. Stiles, 2nd in broad jump, 2nd in javelin throw, 3rd in 100 yd. dash, 5	O. Robertson, 1st in mile, 5	B. MacFarland, 2nd in high hurdles, 4th in 880, 4th in broad jump, 4	R. Keniston, 1st in discus,
4	D. Brown, tied for first in high jump, 3	M. Kimball, 2nd in mile,
2	J. Swain, 3rd in mile,
2	E. Holt, 3rd in 880,
2	R. Moore, 3rd in high hurdles,

"B" Squad 5-S. Paris J. H. 4

The "B" Squad journeyed to So. Paris Monday afternoon and won a 5 to 4 decision in a real pitchers battle. Both Young of the local and Muncie of South Paris pitched excellent ball, both allowing just six hits.

South Paris started a rally in the ninth inning when the first man singled, but Young put on the pressure and disposed of the next three batters in order. The summary is as follows:

B Squad 16-Andover High 14
The "B" Squad got revenge in a wet game played in Andover. After being behind 7-1, the "B" Squad finally found their eyes and started pounding out hits in every direction. The pitchers were able to do little with the ball because of the extremely wet condition.

Those who played well for Gould were Young and Brooks, while French proved to be the slugger for Andover. The summary of the game:

Vol II—No. 6 Issued by L. E. Davis, Bethel May 27, 1937

Conductor (to young lady): "I will have to charge full fare for your little brother, he's wearing long pants." Young Brother: "Gosh sis, according to that you ride free."

On Wednesday we sent over some siding sheathing and dimension to Billy Marquis as he is going to add a little to his over night cabins.

Pilot: (after six or seven loops) I'll bet half of those folks down there thought we would break our necks. Timid passenger: I know half of us up here thought so.

Customer: You made a mistake in that prescription for my mother-in-law. You used strychnine instead of quinine. Druggist: Is that so? Well then, you owe me forty cents more.

Judge: "What possible excuse could you have for acquitting the prisoner?" Foreman: "Insanity, sir."

Judge: "What? All twelve of you?" Frank Gibson is putting some new shingles at the "Red Buildings" on the Gilead road. He's using some of our native hemlock.

Where there's a will there's a way, but where there's no will, there's a lot of relatives.

The Little School-House

Still sits the school-house by the road Not with the "ragged beggar sunning"
But a haven of rest for young and old—
To meet on its porch in the summer time,
And tell short stories, some in rhyme—
Of the hours spent 'neath the fragrant pines
And the stunts we did in lilac time, Many long years ago.
It is a spot of nature's play-ground,
And a place for healthful gain Where our childhood friends are coming Tired in body and in brain, To absorb the wondrous balsam And return with a different zest To their homes in other villages, Happy they have been its guest.

The little desk has been quiet, I believe, since 1900. Soon the little house was bought by a friend who loved it, and has renovated it into a lovely summer cottage.

Here by the roadside it stands, sheltered in the east by a grand old mountain; toward the west and across the meadow, the Androscoggin River gracefully makes its bend; and still more distant are seen the White Mountains. Nestled as it is in the shade of lovely pines, planted by a grand-sire about 60 years ago—who could wonder the spot was chosen for a district school? We grow with the little trees, and unconsciously were uplifted, as they seemed to say to us —we take the earth as we found it when transplanted here.

We must try and understand it and the laws which govern it—and the Perfection which created it—and to love it all.

Sturdy sentinels they stand today, carpeting the earthy floor with clean brown needles—and facing the keen winds of winter, signifying how the vigor of youth steadies into a maturity of strength with age.

A worn and torn old arithmetic was the magic bark to childhood years. So swiftly does memory travel, that even as I opened the old book and looked at lessons marked in fractions (how I detested them) I found myself once more in the little old school-house. In the front of the room the old box stove—how we huddled about it on cold mornings, and the boy proud to be janitor I suspect made many trips to replenish the fire.

In the warm spring days to eat our lunch under the pines—then to the open fields, gathering hands full of buttercups, and beautiful blue violets by the spring, I can see them now.

Teacher's desk must have groaned under the fragrant harvest of little bouquets thrust into old cups and bottles. Then the pall of drinking water on an old bench in the corner of the room, with its rusty fringed tin dipper alongside.
How thirsty we were, and what water-logged objects we must have been by going home time.

To most of us, the fatal hour was when the superintendent visited school, sitting upon the platform in store clothes and squeaking shoes. What an ordeal for him!
Were we on our good behavior—and scared? not I!—being the most stupid scholar I could rest at ease, with the assurance that teacher, cute as she was, would never call upon me to recite—my reward of merit.

And the last day of school—teacher always wearing something different, me in starched dresses and hair ribbons. We spoke our pieces with trembling voices and shaking knees—glad to flee home to mother with beaming faces at the thought of long weeks ahead with no hateful lessons to mar our happiness.

How simple it all was, and how happy we all were!

And sitting today in a corner of the grove I chose long ago, with memories sweet and sad, I am wondering if the notes I am writing do not exhale the sweet odor of the pines.

Easy Pleasant Way To LOSE FAT

How would you like to lose your fat, increase your energy and improve your health?

How would you like to lose your double chin and your too prominent hips and abdomen and at the same time make your skin so clean and clear that it will compel admiration?

Get on the scales to-day and see how much you weigh—then get a bottle of Kruschen Salts that cost next to nothing and which will last you 6 weeks. Take one half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water in the morning—out down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—and when you have dis-tasted the contents of this first bottle weigh yourself again.

Notice also that you have gained in energy—you feel younger in body—Kruschen will give any fat person a joyous surprise. Refuse imitations—safeguard your health—you lose fat SAFELY the Kruschen way.

NOTE—Many people find that the only diet change necessary while taking Kruschen regularly is TO EAT LESS.

OXFORD COUNTY UNITED PARISH

On Friday evening of this week the young people of the Parish will meet at East Stoneham at 7:30. There will be a business meeting at which time we will elect our officers for the ensuing year. After the meeting a social is being planned, but be there early so that you can attend the meeting.

In spite of the threatening rain-clouds, we were able to carry through to completion our County-wide Young People's Rally. About 200 of us were able to climb Mt. Treadwell where we enjoyed our picnic lunches. The visibility was poor, but the sociability good. Nature's benevolent forces withheld its down-pour of rain until we were safely in the Wilkins House. Reports were given by our delegates to the State Youth Conference at Skowhegan of last week end, and Mr. Bull led us in some good singing. Our Rally was climaxed by an inspiring and enthusiastic talk to our young people by the Rev. Harold Metzner of the Pleasant Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, Waterville, on "Empty Thrones."

Memorial Day services in the Parish will be held at Albany. The communities of Albany, North Waterford and East Stoneham will cooperate to make this a memorable day. The morning program will be in charge of the Women's Relief Union at 10 o'clock (D. S. T.). A free dinner will be served. The North Waterford and East Stoneham people are requested to bring the pastries for the dinner. In the afternoon at 2 o'clock the school children of Albany will take charge of the program, at which time the Rev. George H. Gledhill will be the speaker.

To the Ladies of Waterford! The date for the Men's Club's "Ladies Night" has been set for Monday evening, June 7th, at the Wilkins House.

The Red Cross Class has been meeting regularly every Tuesday evening at North Waterford. We are learning some very important things about first aid which are going to be very useful in times of emergencies. We invite your attendance if you are interested.

There are two Circle Suppers scheduled for next week in the Parish. The first comes on Thursday at East Stoneham at 6 o'clock and the other at Center Lovell on Friday evening at 7 o'clock (D. S. T.).

On Wednesday evening, June 2d, at Lovell Village the teachers of the Lovell Schools are presenting a three act play, "Salt Water Taffy," the proceeds of which are to go toward the expense of the costumes for the graduation exercises of the Lovell School. Those taking part in the play are: the Misses Adelaide Scott, Vivian Scott, Olive Eastman, Frances Rich, Doris Bryan; Albert Libby, Gordon Eastman, Leslie Stearns, Carlton Merrill, and Louis Davis, stage manager. Mrs. Alice Dowell is coaching the play. It will be given at Wyley Hall at 8:15 o'clock (D. S. T.) with dancing to follow the play.

Speaking of graduations! It is true they are within a week's time away. On June 3d, the North Waterford School holds its graduation exercises at the I. O. O. F. Hall. Fourteen boys and girls will complete this first step in their education.

Oysters "Grow" on Trees

The island of Trinidad in the West Indies is noted not only for its self-filling Pitch lake, source of most of the world's asphalt and the place where Sir Walter Raleigh caulked his ships, but other peculiarities. For instance, oysters grow on mangrove trees. They fasten themselves to the trees' branches at high tide and are left hanging when the tide recedes. Then, too, Trinidad has its singing fish, which emit a trumpeting sound when annoyed.

Cleaning Parchment Diplomas

A parchment diploma may be cleaned if it is not too soiled by rubbing lightly with art gum, which may be purchased from any art dealer. Another method is to use pieces of freshly baked bread with the crust cut off. For grease spots apply Fuller's earth. Rub it into the stain and then brush off.

The Turn of the Tide

When you get into a tight place and everything goes against you till it seems as though you could not hold on a minute longer, never give up then, for that is just the place and time that the tide will turn.

The World in Pictures

SPRING IN OLD MEXICO brings beautiful señoritas and gay caballeros to the parks as it does everywhere else in the world. This pretty scene was snapped in Mexico City, where thousands of Americans are planning to spend vacations this summer.

NATIONAL MARBLE TOURNEY IN FULL SWING

A STAR AND HIS HOBBY. Ever since James Melton, singing star of the radio and movies, was a youngster he has wanted to own a "horseless carriage." Now he does and prefers it to modern streamlined creations. Here is Melton at the wheel of his "new" car, a 1910 model, driving up Fifth Avenue, New York, with Lanny Ross and Jessica Dragonette as his guests.

SAFE! Cameras are used to record the finish of close horse races, and now they can be applied to baseball. How is this for proving "Dixie" Walker, of the White Sox, safe in a close play at first? Note how close his foot is to the bag.

SEE AMERICA FIRST is more popular than ever, as far as the National Parks are concerned. This year, in anticipation of its biggest tourist season in history, Yellowstone National Park has put in service a new fleet of streamlined White coaches, so that the most remote parts of the Park can be visited in comfort and safety.

SWIMMING STAR Eleanor Holm Jarrett, pretty women's backstroke champion, will head a cast of 500 bathing beauties in the "Aquaade," a musical and water spectacle to feature the Great Lakes Exposition at Cleveland this summer.

How Racing Pigeons Fly

When racing pigeons are released from their crates, they spiral upward for twenty seconds, level off, and streak for home. Their eyesight, like their memory for landmarks, is remarkable. Apparently, they can see many times as far as human beings, says a writer in Literary Digest. In flight, pigeons don't follow an absolutely straight course for the home loft. They take it the easiest way, and will fly miles around storms of fogs. Moisture is bad for their wings.

Bridegroom Crashes Wine Glass

No one knows definitely why the orthodox Jewish wedding ritual requires the bridegroom to crush a wine glass under his heel. According to the most popular of its many interpretations, however, says Collier's Weekly, it is done to keep fresh the contempt which the Jews hold for the Romans who, in 70 A. D., captured Jerusalem, and, in burning the city to the ground and enslaving the few who escaped the sword, ended the Jewish nation.

Formation of Clay

Clay is formed by the decomposition of rocks—a process of nature taking centuries. That's why Hawaii, a new land geologically speaking, has little of it. Early Hawaiians substituted the imu, or oven pit, for cooking utensils. A fire built in the pit heated stones. Then food was wrapped in green leaves, put in the pit and covered by more hot stones. It took four hours to cook a hog. Plates and other utensils were made of wood.

Dominated Philippine Islands

Over many centuries the Indian and Arabic influences were dominant in the Philippine Islands. Then the Spanish influence reigned for three centuries, only to be succeeded by the American.

Crises Breed Character

In all lives there is a crisis in the formation of character. It comes from many causes, and from some which on the surface are apparently even trivial. But the result is the same; a sudden revelation to ourselves of our secret purpose and a recognition of our, perhaps long-shadowed, but now masterful, convictions.

Short-Fingered People

Short-fingered people hate detail, which they regard as unimportant and time-wasting. Their detailed work is liable, therefore, to be inaccurate. But they can handle big affairs and are leaders of men. These people are quick both in mind and action. Many successful business men have short fingers on broad palms.

A Parthian Shaft

Parthian shaft is an unexpected and satirical witticism. The phrase refers to a custom of the ancient Parthians, who in battle would feign retreat and then shoot backward with unerring aim.
